Another Successful Firex for Hochiki Europe

Hochiki Europe enjoyed a very successful International Firex, this year held in Hall 3 at the Birmingham NEC. With a bigger and better stand than ever before Hochiki Europe used this leading fire industry event as the platform to unveil its exciting and innovative new fire detection and alarm products as well as its dynamic and inventive new product ranges.

Among the innovative new product releases were a brand new addressable Wall Sounder Beacon (CHQ-WS2), a low-cost air-sampling detector (FIRElink-NANO) and Single Input Module (CHQ-SIM) joining the CHQ Range of Modules, all of which are at the forefront of fire detection technology.

The dynamic and inventive new product ranges consisted of the revolutionary solution for Houses in Multiple Occupation - the CHQ-HUSH System and the Smart-Fix+ rapid-fix modular Plug and Play System which is changing the way the construction industry views fire systems cabling and includes the patented 'Rotalock' locking mechanism.

The broad selection of products showcased from Hochiki Europe's extensive premium-build portfolio was not the only thing to attract interest to the stand, a prize draw for a Philips Portable Entertainment Docking System invited many entries, with Darrell Hawksworth from NG Bailey Maintenance being the lucky winner.

To mark the biennial industry event, Hochiki Europe held an excellent medieval themed event at Warwick Castle for a selection of its customers on the Monday evening with a sumptuous 5 course feast and superb entertainment (see below):
